WAYNESBORO

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WAYNESBORO, VA., August 14.—The month of August finds the gathering of many interesting guests at Brunswick Inn, and the renewal of old friendships.

Mrs. A. M. Randolph, Jr., and family, of Manchester, England, are notable additions to the inn. Other additions to the agreeable company gathered here are the Misses Burke, Miss Emily Denby, Miss Clara Barton and E. D. Denby, of Norfolk.

Small parties of bridge have been arranged each morning this week on the veranda. The tennis courts continue to gain in popularity.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the week was the progressive five hundred party on Monday evening, which included twenty of the guests of the inn. The drawing-room was simply but effectively decorated in mountain flowers and vines. The attractive prizes were presented by Mrs. A. M. Randolph, Jr. The prize for highest score was won by Mrs. John E. Burke, of Norfolk, the consolation by Miss Kathryn Burke, of Norfolk, and hooby by Mrs. Eugene Irvin, of Reidsville, N. C.

Warner Wood and his twenty-four boys from "Blue Ridge Camp" stopped at Brunswick Inn for a day while on their hike to the Grottoes of the Shenandoah. They brought their usual good cheer and did full justice to a big dinner and supper.

Quite a large party of children chaperoned by some of the older people, went to Saturday matinee to see Mary Pickford in "Cinderella."

A family party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Call and family, and Mrs. George Call and children are here again for the season, having spent many summers at this resort.

Recent arrivals at Mrs. A. M. Randolph, Jr., and family, Manchester, England; Miss Nellie Schirm, Miss Ellen Schirm, Mrs. E. M. Schirm, of Savannah, Ga.; Mrs. W. M. Trant, Miss Elizabeth Trant, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. J. W. Lawson, Mrs. Francis Lawson, of Warrenton; C. Roy Jones, of Culpeper; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Call and children, S. C. Taylor, L. L. GREAT DAY FOR MASONS IN OLD HALIFAX COUNTY

Visitors to Number of 400 Through Houston for Public Meeting and Picnic.

HANKINS ORATOR OF OCCASION

Richmond Man Delivers Masterly Address, and Confers Wife and Daughter's Degree Upon Thirty Candidates.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
HOUSTON, VA., August 14.—A memorable event was the convention of Masons, their wives, daughters, sisters and mothers and friends, which was entertained in Houston on Tuesday. From early morning until 6 o'clock in the evening the visitors, who numbered around 400, were in town, and received the greatest hospitality that could be offered them. The occasion was a convention of the lodges of District No. 37, which is presided over by District Deputy Grand Master S. R. Crews, of Houston, and composed of the lodges at Houston, South Boston, Nathalie, Scottsburg and Crystal Hill. Many Masons from adjoining districts and neighboring cities were also present. The members of the order began assembling at the Masonic Hall at 10 o'clock, where they formed in line and marched to the Beth Car Baptist Church for a public meeting. The seating capacity of the church auditorium was completely filled and many additional listeners stood throughout the program. Joseph Stebbins, Jr., welcomed the visitors to town. S. T. A. Kent, of Ingram, Va., responded for the guests. Henry W. Woodall introduced the speaker, J. Gus Hankins, of Richmond, editor of the Virginia Masonic Journal, who delivered one of the most masterly addresses ever heard in this section. At the conclusion of the public meeting the wife and daughter's degree was conferred upon thirty women. Owing to the large number who desired to take this degree the courtroom was chosen and here the degree was conferred by Mr. Hankins. Dinner was served in the grove at the rear of the hall, where convenient arrangements had been made by a diligent committee. The supply was abundant and served entirely without disorder. After refreshments a large number of Masons gathered at the school auditorium, where a Master Mason's lodge was opened and the address of Master Mason conferred upon two candidates. A rising vote of thanks was extended District Deputy Crews for the pleasant and profitable event which was brought about through his zeal and enthusiastic work.
The Halifax County Farmers' Union held a meeting here on Monday, President D. S. Bray presiding. An open session was held in the morning and a closed session in the afternoon. State President A. B. Thornhill, of Appomattox, was the principal speaker at the open session, and delivered a forceful address on the aims, objects and purposes of the farmers' organization. Short speeches were also made by R. S. Barbour, of South Boston; W. H. Edmunds, of Houston; E. B. Koeley, of South Boston; W. W. Wilkins, of Turberville; R. L. DeJarnette, of Houston; W. T. Collier, of near Houston, and H. A. Friderstein, of Virginia. Mr. Thornhill was earnest and impressive in his plea that farmers lay aside abuse of the trusts and study their situation and found their organization upon business principles.

Rev. and Mrs. Wythe Leigh Kinsolving, of Winchester, Tenn., were guests the past week of Houston friends. Miss Florence Draper left this week on a trip to the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

ORKNEY SPRINGS

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ORKNEY SPRINGS, VA., August 14.—Among the many delightful people at this resort none is furnishing more pleasure than these three young women: Miss Sophie Whitely, Miss Margaret Huss, of Washington, and Miss Helen Whitehurst, of Norfolk. Each in her way an expert in aesthetic dancing, and a joint entertainment by the three created a furore of enthusiasm. An striking contrast was an old-fashioned cakewalk by the colored waiters and porters. Nothing better could be imagined in grotesque, dash and mirth-provoking abandon. It was hard to judge who was the most expert, but the first prize was carried off by Tyler, the faithful porter.
Polo is not in vogue here, but an old-fashioned country tournament was found to be much more hilarious. The brave knights assembled were charged by William Grammar in language of scholastic excellence. The honors were carried off by Erasmus Baser, knight of Germany; Charles Hepper, knight of Mathias; Harold Fry, knight of Crooked Run; J. R. T. Stidley, knight of Orkney. These knights, however, transferred their honors to the young men of the hotel.
Other interesting events of the day were the races. The winners were: 100-yard dash, Russell Pole; ladies' fifty-yard dash, Dorothy Huss; girls' fifty-yard dash, Margaret Huss; potato race, Richard Marshall; peanut race, Richard Lawrence; men's pie eating contest, Abe Ray; three-legged race, Hull and Lonan.
Following the day's events a grand ball and coronation took place at 8:30 in the enormous ballroom. Mr. Atkinson, of Baltimore, crowned Miss Pfeiffer, of Washington, queen. Douglas Newham, of Woodstock, crowned Miss Whitehurst, first maid of honor, while Mr. Healy, of Washington, crowned Miss Quigly, of the same city, and Mr. Farr, of Washington, crowned Miss Estelle Carr.
Other events, such as hay rides, card parties, concerts by the accommodating musical coterie among the guests are of daily occurrence. A family portrait entertainment was quite clever and created endless amusement.

Among the guests here are: Miss Murdoch, Miss Louise Robinson, Mrs. C. J. Pole, J. L. Whelan, L. S. Fry and son, Mrs. A. J. Schwarz, Mrs. M. A. Parker, Mrs. Ledwood Vandergrift, John C. N. Jayne, H. W. Walker, wife and daughter, Lieutenant K. H. Gorman, Miss Louise Boussett, Reg. Schroeder, Mrs. Zell Jayne, J. O. Ackers, Richard C. Gill, J. R. Baker and wife, E. O. Barr, Miss Miriam Meyers, J. W. Myre and wife, C. N. Blomde, Miss V. Harris, Miss M. D. Pheil, Washington; Miss M. C. Laseell, Lupton La Motte Wolf, Mary Charlotte Wolf, R. C. Sheridan, Andrew Banks, and wife, R. A. Atkinson, Baltimore.

Better Acquaintance For Better or Worse?
THIS week is destined to mean, we hope, better acquaintance for better and not for worse. And so we've girded up our loins and we're ready for ginger and pep—and our shop is full of merchandise—the newest of all the new.
And this shall we hope to deserve your better acquaintance for better.
Don't be prejudiced for or against us. For prejudice means simply pre-judgment—the passing of judgement before one has heard the evidence in the case.
So why should any one prejudice this store, for example, when the facts are so ready at hand.
For BELIEVING there's nothing like SEEING. Visit at "The Specialty Shop" and so learn facts first hand.
The new merchandise, the unimpeachable style, the efficient specialized service; the pertinent economies—growing out of efficiency.
In one short hour, perhaps, our endeavor may call forth your judgment that "A Certain" "isfaction" attends your shopping here.
